CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES

ARMISTICE MAY BE SIGNED IN MANCHURIA

Arrangement to Be Made by the Two Commanders—Japan's Offer Made Public—Other Peace Negotiations News.

Washington, June 16.—Along on the plains of Manchuria, midway between the two great armies, the Russian and Japanese commanders will meet to sign the armistice which will end the war. The conference will be held at a point in the present line of battle. The armistice is followed by the exchange of prisoners. It is now in progress between the Russian and Japanese commanders. It is believed that the armistice will be signed by the two commanders. It is believed that the armistice will be signed by the two commanders. It is believed that the armistice will be signed by the two commanders.

Prior to the signing of the armistice, however, will come the official announcement of the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries. Russia has indicated that her mission will be headed by M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador at Paris, and it is understood that the emperor has requested Marquis Ito to head the Japanese mission, but he has not yet accepted.

An important detail which has been the subject of informal conversation at the white house is the language to be used at the conference. Russia will ask that French be used, the Japanese will express preference for English, and in recognition of the fact that the conference will be held in Manchuria, the Japanese will ask that Chinese be used.

No date has yet been fixed for the conference. There are many official papers, copies of which must be furnished to the plenipotentiaries. The Japanese will also furnish some papers. Before leaving for the conference, the plenipotentiaries will be required to sign a declaration of intent to observe the armistice and to hand in their credentials. The exchange of these papers will constitute the official formalities after the plenipotentiaries enter the conference room.

It is believed that the plenipotentiaries will meet in the conference room at the white house. The plenipotentiaries will be accompanied by their respective secretaries. ## CANNOT COME TO AGREEMENT

SERIOUS STRAIN BETWEEN FRANCE AND GERMANY

Officials' Protest Against Exaggerated Reports Concerning Morocco Question—Appeal to All Europe.

Paris, June 16.—Strained relations between France and Germany over Morocco continue to give rise to serious apprehension, but, while openly admitting there are real difficulties involved, officials protest against this being made the basis of exaggerated reports. One report that Germany had submitted an ultimatum brought out a formal denial from the foreign office.

A report in the Paris press that Germany had demanded that France and Great Britain complete a guarantee that the Anglo-French entente is not in the nature of an armed alliance against Germany.

The press asserts that M. Delcasse, when foreign minister, signed a secret and defensive alliance with Great Britain. These reports are dismissed in the authoritative quarters as fanciful enlargements of the situation, and another in the semi-official Temps to night gives warning against what it terms "nervous paroxysms."

At the same time the diplomatic strain between France and Germany is undeniably serious. The chief cause of this is inability thus far of each party to propose a remedy acceptable to the other. France is anxious to uphold her predominant position in Morocco without subjecting it to inspection and revision by the international congress proposed by Germany.

On the other hand, Germany does not recognize French predominance in the Morocco or Anglo-French agreement on which this predominance is based. Thus Germany's issue is entirely against Great Britain and France, although the latter is more immediately involved.

All parties are making appeal to the friendly cooperation of other nations so that mutually all Europe is participating in the controversy, and this permits a wide range of speculation concerning a rearrangement of political alliances. However, officials maintain the situation does not involve such far-reaching questions, and the renewal of the long pending struggle over Morocco in an aggravated form.

RECEIVED BY POPE

Pontiff Grants Private Audience to Archbishop Keane of Dubuque, Iowa.

Roma, June 16.—The pope received in private audience, Mons. Rev. John J. Keane, archbishop of Dubuque, Iowa. Archbishop Keane, having thanked the pope for the telegram sent by him to the convention of Catholic temperance societies held at Cedar Falls, Iowa, his holiness emphasized the importance of including the American people to abstain from intoxicating liquors and practice the fundamental virtue of temperance.

The pope sent his blessing to temperance workers, not only for Dubuque, but of the entire United States. The conversation having turned on the subject of the papal encyclical regarding abstention from alcohol, the pope declared that while his holiness had not issued a formal rule, he followed the fully accepted fact that the prohibition of alcohol must be gradual and slow.

The pontiff said that knowing Archbishop Keane to be a personal friend of President Roosevelt, he would be glad to present to the president his respectful and affectionate regards both for Mr. Roosevelt and his country.

After his audience of the pope the archbishop, who had already paid his respects to Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, visited the papal secretary of state, with whom he had a long and interesting conversation.

Archbishop Keane will leave Rome Monday next for Baltimore, where he will remain three weeks. He expects to be in the United States at the end of August.

IMPROVEMENT IS MODERATE

PROGRESS ALONG CONSERVATIVE LINES

Summer Wear Sales Stimulated by Seasonable Weather—Confidence in Future Still Continues.

New York, June 16.—Dun's trade review says: Moderate improvement is noted in commercial conditions, although progress is along conservative lines and there is no evidence of speculative excesses. Seasonable weather has stimulated retail sales of light weight wearing apparel and jobbers report more disposition among dealers to place orders for fall and winter goods. Material payments are also more prompt, brighter crop outlook having a salutary effect on all departments of commerce.

Although the new business in industrial lines is less active, pig iron prices are receding, stocks tend to increase and the buyers' and consumers' market rather than one favoring the seller. Firms in cotton is a feature calling for note. Buyers are impatient for quick deliveries. The order business with jobbers has been fairly good, especially at the west. In woolen goods trade is seasonal and clothing men report good business.

Peoria, June 16.—Ollis Botts, 21, was executed in the county jail to day for the murder of his wife Jim. Botts spent the night laughing, joking and telling loud stories. His mother wanted to attend the execution, but he said: "Don't do it, you'll make me lose my nerve." Botts strangled his wife to death by tying a hair ribbon around her neck.

When he faced the crowd the air of bravado which had marked his career to this time deserted him and he broke down and went. He was barely able to stand when the straps and noose were being fixed.

TRIPLE HANGING
Deerfoot, Ala., June 16.—Harvey Smith, John Collier and Will Jackson, colored, were hanged in the jail yard here this afternoon. He was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and hanged a second time. The rope drawing so tight that it cut deep into his flesh.

ISSUED INJUNCTION
Kansas City, June 16.—Judge Spiller, of the federal court here, issued a temporary injunction restraining the state railway and warehouse commissioners of Missouri and attorney general from enforcing the maximum freight rate law which went into effect to day, and against three Kansas City shippers preventing the latter from claiming penalties under the law. The injunction was granted on the ground that the rates provided in the new law are prohibitive and would amount to confiscation of railroads property.

THE GRAFT INVESTIGATION

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE BEING GIVEN

Witnesses Claim Strike Against Ward & Co., Investigated by Rival Business Houses—Many Rumors Afloat.

Chicago, June 16.—Although rumors of sensational evidence in connection with the graft strike were flying thick and fast to day, there was little tangible evidence to support them. Assistant State Attorney Burke declared to day that the evidence given before the grand jury yesterday was of an startling character, that it could be produced only once in a thousand years. The testimony to day, he said, maintained the interest created by the evidence of yesterday.

It is understood that the grand jury to day devoted much of its time to listening to statements of witnesses who declared the strike against Ward & Co. was instigated by rival business houses. State Attorney Burke said to night the investigation has assumed a scope so extensive that the full session of the grand jury which is to continue for the next two weeks, will probably be finished before the inquiry is concluded and that a special grand jury will be necessary to dispose of routine cases now pending.

ILLINOIS NEWS ITEMS

Peoria Man Attempts Suicide for Peculiar Reason—Treasurer Missing—Waverly Fish Fry—Illinois Undertakers—Other News.

Peoria—Out of work, despondent because his wife refused to passively allow him to ramble off with the dark-skinned beauties of a passing apolo wagon, Joe Milke, a painter, living at 201 Spencer street, attempted suicide by hanging at 8:30 Thursday evening. Mrs. Milke and Mrs. Parker, who lives in the same house, were sitting together on the porch shortly after 8 o'clock when Milke was turned home. As he came up Mrs. Parker went into the house. Milke had some words with his wife which Mrs. Parker did not overhear and passed on into an outhouse. In less than five minutes little 8-year-old Eva Parker ran to her mother crying, "O mamma, that man is tying himself up like a horse." Mrs. Milke and some of the neighbors ran to the shed and found the body of the man swinging from a beam. Ed and Thomas Race, neighbors, cut down the swinging form, but Milke was already unconscious. Drs. Ehardt and Finnell were called but failed to restore him to consciousness and he was removed to the St. Francis hospital.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF AUTOMOBILES.

I have issued strict orders to the chief of police and to the police department that all parties driving automobiles faster than the ordinance prescribes, to-wit: 8 miles an hour, that they be arrested. I fully realize the temptation to owners of automobiles to speed their machines, but in doing so they are endangering the lives of the public, and I predict, unless this fast driving is stopped, a serious accident. We expect to use every effort to bring all violators of this ordinance before the bar of justice. Signed,

John R. Davis, Mayor.

AN EARLY SMITTER GONE

Mrs. Maria G. Chapman died in Indianapolis, Ind., where she had made her home for some years, Thursday morning, and was buried with her father in Oak Ridge, at Springfield, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Chapman was 80 years of age, having been born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, the daughter of Robert and Jane Goudy. The family moved first to Columbus, Ohio, then to Indianapolis, Ind., then to Vandalia, this state, coming from there to this city in 1893, and going from here to Springfield, where Miss Goudy became the wife of George Chapman; returning here some time after her marriage. She was the mother of five children, only one of whom, Mrs. William D. Tucker, of LaClare, Iowa, survives her, and was with her in her last moments.

Mrs. Chapman was the last of a large family, formerly well known here. They were: Dr. Calvin, of Taylorville; Mr. Enslay T., of Jacksonville and Springfield; Dr. Robert, of St. Marys, Hancock county; Mrs. James Gamble, of LaClare, Iowa; Mrs. Jane Chapman, of Taylorville; Hon. William C., of Chicago; Hon. George B., of the territory of Oregon, and Mr. James H. Goudy, of Oregon and Washington territories. Mrs. Chapman was a woman of much intellectual brightness, very well read and a good writer; and, notwithstanding her great age, she maintained her health and faculties for the most part till her last illness.

GIRL WAS LOST

Pupil in Party Enroute Home From School for Deaf Missed at Decatur—Supposed to Have Been Met by Parents.

There was wild commotion among a coach-load of pupils from the Deaf and Dumb institution at Jacksonville Thursday morning, when it was discovered that one of the pupils had got lost at Decatur. The teacher in charge of the party rapidly checked his list, counted the people present and then spoke volumes to the excited children with his fingers. Then everybody talked at once, silently of course, but it must have been confusing to the man who was trying to hear it all with his eyes. The missing girl lives at Homer and her absence was not discovered till the accommodation train for the east was nearly ready to start and the attendant was checking his list to see that everybody who was to take the train was on board. Although the train was held for a few minutes the girl was not found. It was concluded that she had been met at the train by her parents and carried away without any explanation. This is the day that the pupils from the state institution for the deaf and dumb scatter to their homes in various parts of the state and as usual a coach-load came to Decatur on Wabash train No. 4 to be sent out from the various lines radiating from this city. Besides including tags to the children to show their destination, an attendant always accompanies them to important junction points to see that they get out on the right trains—Decatur Review.

R. H. Sperry, of Winchester, passed through this city Friday evening enroute from Springfield, where he had been attending the state undertakers' convention.

ANOTHER VERSION

Mrs. Chas. Fawcett Tells Story of Disastrous Ending of Picnic—Horses Ran Away.

There appears to have been two versions of the events which occurred on the picnic of the children of the Trinity Sunday school, Thursday morning. Mrs. Charles Fawcett, who was one of the chaperones, and who was painfully injured, gives the following version:

"Our party started out for Dunlap Springs about 10 o'clock with two wagons. The first wagon was driven by Oscar Ingram and carried a large freezer full of ice cream, besides a number of children and the chaperones. There were about twenty children on the second wagon, on which I was riding, and the horses were driven by William Kackman, the unfortunate man who was injured. The horses pulling the first wagon became nervous as they were crossing the Wabash railroad near the rock bridge and began to run. The driver, Mr. Ingram, began pulling on the lines, and one of the boys on the wagon told him to brace his feet against the heavy freezer, which he did and succeeded in stopping the animals. The horses attached to our wagon also became nervous when they were crossing the railroad and started to run down the steep hill toward the rock bridge. Our driver, Mr. Kackman, began to pull on the lines in an endeavor to slacken their pace, but they kept on at a good rate of speed. When the foot of the hill was reached the driver fell from the wagon and was run over, although we did not know that he had fallen off until after the horses were stopped. The animals crossed the rock bridge on a dead gallop and when they had run about a mile I thought that the driver was driving too fast, and called to him to pull up the horses, but when I looked for him I saw that he was missing. One of the boys told me afterward that he saw him fall off at the foot of the hill, but he was too frightened to notify the others.

"When I saw that our driver was missing the first thing I thought of was to try and stop the horses, so I looked for the lines, but they had fallen to the ground and were dragging under the horses' feet. I saw that I could not reach the lines, so I jumped from the wagon with the intention of running ahead of the animals and stopping them. But when I struck the ground I tripped in some way and fell, severely injuring my arm. I immediately regained my feet and started after the wagon and caught up with it at the hedge, where they had stopped. The horses continued to run until they came to a turn in the road and instead of turning the corner they ran into a hedge fence.

"The larger girls on the load jumped off immediately and with the assistance of myself and several bystanders we took all of the children off and took them to the Tyrrell residence, about one-half mile distance. We had no sooner unloaded the children than the animals turned around and bolted back up the road toward town. A farmer stopped them and tied them to a hitch rack.

"While the team was running along the road we passed the other wagon and I think the driver called to us, but we could not understand what he said. The driver noticed that our driver was missing so he, suspecting that he had fallen off, turned around and went back in search of him.

"A lady stopped in front of the Tyrrell residence and some of the children asked her if she would take me to the doctor as my arm was severely injured and she consented. She brought me to Olliger's livery stable, where I heard some of the men talking about the runaway, and I told them that I was one of the victims and they seemed very much surprised to hear me say that it was a runaway and tried to convince me that the horses did not run. I went to Dr. Thompson's where my arm was dressed.

"The injury to Mrs. Fawcett is severe, but not dangerous. It will be necessary to pack the member in clay to day and she will be unable to use her arm for several weeks.

"William Kackman, the driver, who was run over by the wagon, was resting easy last evening and it is does not take a backer will be able to be around again in several weeks.

ENJOYED PICNIC

The Young Ladies' Missionary society of State Street church enjoyed a picnic at Maple Grove Friday evening. About seventy-five young people participated in the occasion, which was a delightful one for all.

While George Wolke was returning Thursday evening about 6:40 o'clock from a ride in Mr. Masters' automobile he backed the machine accidentally into a delivery wagon which was standing in front of Harney & Packard's meat market on South Main street. The wagon was overturned in the melee and considerably damaged, but the horse escaped with several severe scratches.

THE FOURTH OF JULY

It will be celebrated in Jacksonville on the Public Square.

Arrangements are progressing for one of the most successful Fourth of July celebrations the city has had in many years. Already the features have been mentioned in the Journal and it is needless to repeat them at this time. The festivities are to be on the public square and will be absolutely free to all and the whole state is invited to be present and all who remain away will make a great mistake. The day will be full of attractions and at night the fire works will be a feature which will command the admiration of the whole community.

Facts About Fruits.

Fruit alone will not sustain life for any great length of time, but helps to furnish a variety in the diet. It stimulates and improves appetite and digestion, relieves thirst and introduces water into the system, acts as a laxative or astringent, stimulates the kidneys and supplies the organic salt necessary to proper nutrition.

Among the laxatives are figs, prunes, dates, nectarines, oranges and mulberries. The astringents are blackberries, dewberries, raspberries, pomegranates, pears, quinces, wild cherries, cranberries and medlars.

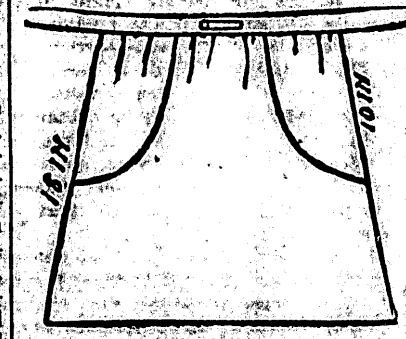

The kind of fruit used for diuretics are grapes, black currants, peaches, watermelons and prickly pears. The refrigerants are red and white currants, gooseberries, lemons, limes and apples.

Dandelion Roots.

The strong, fleshy roots of the dandelion make a palatable dish resembling salsify. They are at their best from June to October. Scrape and boil the roots in salted water until tender. Make a good white sauce, using either milk or stock and seasoning with a little onion. Add the roots cooked tender and serve hot, or scrape and boil in salted water to which a dessertspoonful of vinegar has been added. When tender but still quite firm drain, dip in butter, fry and serve sprinkled with fine chopped chervil and garnished with sliced lemon.

A Washday Convenience.

Procure heavy shirting gingham; one and one-quarter yards will be enough. Double one yard in the middle crosswise, plaiting the raw edges at the top after first cutting away a part of each side of the upper piece for pocket-like openings, like cut. Face or hem the curved edges. Extend the band for strings long enough to cross and tie in front as it can be tied much more easily that way.

Double stitch the sides below the pocket openings and stitch a strip flat on the underside of the band to hang it up by.

Another evidence of Japan's progressiveness is her consideration of the opinion of the Roman character in place of the Chinese.

It took an Indiana jury eighteen hours to decide whether the defendant stole the kiss or whether it was an attempt at theft.

Secretary of War Taft says that industrialism will eventually settle the race problem. Taft is a man whose judgment is not often faulty.

Secretary Morton successfully managed a baseball team once. This ought to make the settling of the affairs of an insurance company easy money.

The dove of peace can hover over Washington with full assurance that it will not be disturbed by the American eagle.

Every question has two sides and some have four sides and a ceiling. A Bloomington man puts up an argument in favor of fast automobilism on the ground that it will tend to make parents keep their children from playing in the streets.

The union bribe taker and the employer bribe giver stand on the same footing before the law. Shen and Driscoll have both been playing roles that need cause honest men anything but envy. Sow to the wind and reap the whirlwind has been well demonstrated by the Chicago strike. There are times when compromise simply complacent.

King Alfonso of Spain, while discharging all the duties of a ruler of his country, still bends his knee to his tutors and is said to be a hard student and a youth, as he is only 19, who really leads a strenuous existence. For a Spaniard to be strenuous is something new and if his countrymen will emulate the example of their ruler the waning influence of the Dona may be restored.

The appointment of George Hoeking to the superintendency of the city electric light works will commend itself to all who know the gentleman and the needs of the municipality. Mr. Hoeking has spent the greater part of his life in Jacksonville and his absolute integrity is well known to everyone well acquainted with him. For years he has been in a position to gain accurate, practical knowledge of the business of electric lighting and the machinery pertaining thereto, while his knowledge of city affairs generally will enable him more successfully to perform the duties which will be incumbent on him.

It is difficult to see why there should have been any opposition to the ordinance granting the mayor power to revoke the license of a convicted law breaking saloonkeeper. The head of the city council is held responsible for all infractions of the law. Right or wrong, all evil and all doings in the city are charged to him. In the cry for reform the voices were directed toward the mayor as the head and practically responsible for all that was done in the city. It is certainly hard to tie a man's legs together and ask him to run. It is hard to ask a man to be responsible for the acts of persons licensed by the city and then curtail his power to revoke their permission to do business. The mayor asked a free hand in managing this part of the city's business, and in asking is offered to assume fully the responsibility that went with it, but for some inscrutable reason a majority of the council refused to grant his reasonable request for power to enforce the decrees of the city. The chief executive of the city is doing his best to enforce the laws as they exist and should be given credit therefor and receive full allowance for the failure of the lawmakers to give him a fair opportunity to execute the statutes as they stand.

OUR DESTINY
Whether we are drifting? Has our nation reached its zenith? Is there a disease gnawing at the vitals of the body politic that is incurable? These are some of the queries that annoy the pessimist. How long will the American people continue to take a vital interest in the affairs of the nation? Will they meet the problems of the present and future with the same resolution and patriotism that they have met the problems of the past? These are the questions that interest the optimist.

The governmental and sociological conditions in the great cities of the country are presenting difficulties new to America and the segregated situation of large multitudes of the people raises many situations that are not easy of solution. Municipal government has forced itself to the front as one of the paramount issues of the time. Conditions exist in Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities that are taxing the ability of the best citizens. Internal conflict has been narrowly averted in several instances. The times have produced men of peculiar type and who, by the stand they have taken, have made themselves known far and wide. Among the number may be mentioned Governor LaFollette, Governor Folk, Mayor Weaver, Thomas K. Dixon and Mayor Dunne. The last named has sought to solve the traction question, and while his hopes were high, the foreign expert, who came as the Moses to lead us out of the wilderness of traction entanglement, has declared that the methods employed in England and Europe are impossible of execution here on account of our being a republic.

These are some of the signs of the times. The question is, how shall we interpret these signs? Back of all this agitation and so-called reform, is there a desire on the part of the people to give up the old for the new? Will the issues of the present, the issues of peace, be met with that same courage and determination that has worked such wonders in the past?

Europe pictured us at the close of the civil war with a vast army of men suddenly released from military control, roving over the commonwealth, and leaving in their path the wreckage of disorder, discontent and ruin. But how grandly and how silently the vast army of both north and south melted away and before there was time for alarm the men who had carried the musket and fought the cannon, were employed at the loom and behind the desk and in the professions, and the warrior had become a mighty factor in the great lost and yet reaching on to greater peace and prosperity. With each decade come new issues. The decade between 1890 and 1900 brought us both the issue of depression and failure and that of war with a foreign nation. These two issues stirred the country from center to circumference. They both, however, proved a shaking up that gave us new vigor as a people and reunited us as a nation in a stronger bond of union.

The present decade seems fraught with grave problems which loom in magnitude to heights that at times almost stagger the beholder, yet the future must be faced with confidence. The pessimist may cry out with despair, but the optimist can answer his cry and laugh it to scorn as long as he sees the American people taking a vital interest in the settlement of the questions of the hour. How long will the republic endure? Just as long as the people are citizens indeed and not in name, citizens exercising the powers of kingship, administering for themselves and by themselves.

YATES OPENS CAMPAIGN

At Dixon last Wednesday, former Governor Yates fired the first gun of the coming senatorial campaign and, according to the dispatches was able to stir up a good deal of very genuine enthusiasm among his audience. There is no denying the fact that Richard Yates has a good many friends in Illinois. This was demonstrated at the state convention where the deadlock held until broken by the support of the governor and with his approval. Governor Deneen is behind his candidacy and this will bring to his standard the bulk of those who enjoy state patronage. In addition to the countenance of the governor, he has the support of a great many shrewd politicians in Illinois, men who have been enjoying his patronage while he was governor and who would now like to see him in the United States senate in order that they might feed fat on federal patronage.

But ex-Governor Yates has a fight ahead of him. He has against him one of the hardest fighters and one of the wisest statesmen who ever sat in the United States senate. He is striving to strip the toga from a man who has grown gray in the political service of his state and his country, and has never known defeat. A man whose nation has a moving influence on the most powerful and dignified legislative council that exists in the world to day. A man who is in perfect accord with the policy of President Roosevelt. A man whose friends will stay with him to the bitter end without thought of defeat or compromise.

It remains to be seen who will win. Richard Yates has accomplished some wonderful things for so young a man. His supporters are well organized and loyal, but if he defeats Senator Cullom he may write it as one of the most notable victories that have ever been achieved in the political annals of this state—Prairie Transcript.

"Hack" and Jeffries.
A comparison of the measurements of Champion Jim Jeffries and Wrestler George Hackenschmidt gives Jeffries an advantage in height and weight. Hackenschmidt's weight when in prime condition is 210 pounds, while Jeffries tips the beam at 225 or possibly a little less when in condition for battle. Hackenschmidt is about a year younger than Jeffries.

In the waist each measures thirty-four inches. In other dimensions the "Russian Lion" measures from one inch to four inches more than Jeffries. The foreigner has learned some of the fine points of the boxing game from an Australian pugilist, and he may decide to enter the ring a year later. Hackenschmidt says he would like to meet Jeffries, but that it would be impossible for him to consider an engagement at this time.

"Hack" has engagements for the entire summer in England and believes he can make some arrangement to return here next fall. Hackenschmidt is an all around athlete, being equally at home at swimming, tumbling, high jumping and gymnastics. He is able to converse fluently in English, French, German, Russian, Finnish, Polish and Bulgarian dialects. Although he was born on Russian soil, his father is German and his mother a Swede.

UPPER.

Mrs. O. J. Upton, formerly Miss Mellie DeFruze, of Springfield, died in St. Louis, Thursday, at a quilling bee held by the Ladies Aid society of the Cote Brilliant Presbyterian church. The society had been discussing plans for the next meeting and Mrs. Upton was enthusiastic, promising to be present. In a short time she was seen to lean her arms upon a table and to hold her head between them. She made an unintelligent answer to the question asked by the members, whether or not she was feeling ill, and became unconscious. Her husband was telephoned to at the Illinois Central offices and arrived at the same time as the death body of his wife was being brought into the house.

She is survived by six brothers, J. P., J. W., R. R., Samuel, H. H. and Charles DeFruze, besides other relatives in this city and Springfield.

HOW "BUFFALO BILL" STARTED HIS WILD WEST SHOW.

"Buffalo Bill" conceived the idea of his Wild West show twenty-nine years ago, according to the recollection of Frank P. Brewer, sheriff of Snohomish county, Washington, who, in 1875, was a cowboy employed by an "outfit" along the Platte river and knew the famous plainsman. In an interview, Sheriff Brewer tells, as follows, how Colonel Cody started his typically American attraction:

"I became acquainted with 'Buffalo Bill' when he was employed by the government as scout at old Fort Mercer. Cody saw much active life in the plains, and during a long and painful career, rendered his country many valuable services, but he grew weary of the life and put an end to it by establishing his ranch, 'Yukon Rest,' on the North Platte, where he settled down to the then lucrative vocation of raising cattle.

Living in the vicinity of Scout's Rest, I quite naturally became better acquainted with its owner and his family, with whom I spent many pleasant days under their hospitable roof. Long life on the plains in the Indian service is not, on the whole, conducive to a life of peace and quiet. Cody began to grow restless. He did not wish to reenter the service, though the government would gladly have welcomed him back in the cavalry, but he did long for a life of peace and quiet.

"I frequently in our gatherings, we indulged in thoughts of the life we should lead. During one of these talks, Cody suggested that a fortune awaited the man who should take a part of the wild west, in which he led to the east for the edification of the 'tenderfeet,' and he immediately followed up his thought by getting together his first Wild West show, which was very much in line with a long way from the old article which delights the world today. As near as I can remember, Cody went to Chicago with a squad of trained elk, a few cow boys—all experts in throwing the wild-breaking bronchos—Miss Ann Oakley, the rifle shot, and himself in the role of a rifle and six-shooter. Some time later the government permitted him to annex Indians to his show.

"His venture almost immediately took the public by storm. 'Buffalo Bill' was a popular man among the plainsmen and soldiers, a very staunch friend in time of need, with his purse always open to those requiring his assistance. Newton Greene in 'Success Magazine' said:

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Wabash Passenger Service to be Revolutionized—The Electric Lights of Alton Lure Birds to Their Death—President of Burlington and Other Officials Here.

It is announced that the Wabash is to revolutionize its passenger service between Chicago and St. Louis, and also in the east, commencing June 28. The Illinois change is said to be due to the efforts of the Alton in the way of the new train now being built at Pullman. Just what the Wabash intends to do has not yet been announced, but it is reported that an effort will be made to equal the Alton's service, and excel it if possible. Ever since the Alton first announced the construction of the new trains, it has been anticipated that something would be done by rival roads, but until now no authentic information could be secured. The acquisition of the wireless telegraph was a great aid for the Alton and it is also said that Mr. Charlton has a few cards up his sleeve concerning the new service, which he will not play until the last moment.

E. A. Patton, real estate agent of the Burlington, is in the city. He has interviewed several of the property owners in the vicinity of Route street.

N. E. Mann, traveling freight agent for the O. P. & St. L., spent Friday here on company business.

A Burlington special train, consisting of six private cars and one combination car, passed through this city Friday afternoon at 12:30, enroute to Chicago. General Manager G. M. Gruber and his party went to Centralia Thursday accompanied by G. W. Dye, division freight and passenger agent, of this city, to meet the other high officials of the road. The two official parties met in Centralia as planned and left there Friday morning at 7:30 enroute to Chicago. The train passed through this city at 12:30 and stopped only long enough to give Mr. Dye time to alight. The special carried the following officials: George B. Harris, president; D. Miller, first vice president; Daniel Willard, second vice president; G. M. Gruber, general manager; H. D. Judson, general superintendent of Illinois lines; George T. Bremner, engineer; W. L. Breckenridge, chief engineer; W. J. Berry, division passenger and freight agent of this city; C. E. Perkins, formerly president of the road, and a number of New Yorkers, who were guests of the officials.

A rumor is afloat in railroad circles that the Burlington and O. P. & St. L. roads are going to pave Illinois avenue. It is said that when the O. P. & St. L. road laid its tracks along Illinois avenue a provision was added to the contract that they keep the street in a passable condition. It can hardly be said truthfully that this has been done in the past, and a change in the condition of the thoroughfare would be welcomed.

Trainmaster L. W. Karnes, of the Wabash, stopped in the city Friday afternoon.

E. M. Merriweather, superintendent of maintenance of way, and A. H. Barkley, roadmaster, both of the Wabash, went through on 22 Friday.

Ever since the electric headlights were introduced on the Alton locomotives there has been a great mortality among birds which, dazzled by the lights, fly against the engine and in case they strike the front end of the cab, meet death. Scarcely a trip is made by the night engines, but a bird is killed. On No. 11 Wednesday morning, with Engineer Webster at the throttle, a big hoot owl became bewildered and flew against the cab and fell fluttering through the window. Its neck was broken by the contact. Further down the road two fat quail flew against the front end and were found dead later on the mile post. In the west it is said that wild animals are fascinated by the long gleaming shaft of light and gallop up the track to meet their doom. Fortunately for the Alton engineers no animals of any size became overthrown in this manner or some details might occur.

L. O. Weems, formerly day operator and ticket clerk for the Alton, has been transferred to Quincy, Iowa, and will leave for this duty this morning. Mr. Weems made many friends while in this city and will regret to see him leave.

OFFICES REMOVED. 217 W. College Ave. first building of library. See card for Dr. Wharton.

POLICE NEWS. D. A. Citrus and Oscar Hamm, charged for disturbing the peace, were taken to the police station. Sergeant Owen and Police Inspector Moore entered the city duties Friday.

John Jones was arrested by Captain for drunkenness.

COUNTRY CLUB

An unusually large number were present at the regular weekly dance of the Country club Friday evening. Many who did not dance spent the evening on the spacious porch or on the moonlit lawn. Among the visitors present were Miss Marjorie Menard of Los Angeles, Cal., who is a guest of Miss Gladys Osborne, Miss Sybil Gordon of Chicago; Miss Madamill of Chicago; Mr. Frank Elbert of Chicago; Mr. Frank Robertson of Virginia; and Hy Eilers of Gillespie. A number of the club members were out for the first time this season.

The following card, sent out by a Detroit commercial club, is worth reading and posting in your hat: "If there is any chance to boom business, boom it. Don't pull a long face and look as though you had a sour stomach. Hold up your head, smile and look for better things. Hide your little hammer, and try to speak well of others, no matter how small you really know yourself to be. When a stranger drops in jolly him, tell him this is the greatest town on earth, and sit at. Don't discourage him by speaking all of your neighbors. Lead him to believe that he has at last struck a place where white people live. Don't knock. Help yourself along by becoming popular and push your friends with you. Be dead easy. Be a good fellow, and soon you will have an procession of followers. No man ever helped himself by knocking other people down in character or business. No man ever got rich by trying to make others believe he was the only man in town who knew anything. You can't climb the ladder of success by treating other people's corns. Keep off the corns and don't knock."

National Auto Meet.

The American Automobile association will hold its first national championship track meet at Morris park, New York city, July 3 and 4, its special committee having completed final arrangements with the Morris Park Motor Racing club, the president of which is Dave Houston Morris, who is also the president of the Automobile Club of America. The national organization desires a substantial fund with which to carry on the extensive work planned for this season.

The offer by Mr. Morris of the Morris park course, made at the recent meeting of the A. A. A. board of directors, was referred to the special committee, consisting of Robert Lee Morrell, chairman of the racing board; George B. Farrington, treasurer, and A. G. Batchelder, the new secretary. The committee intends to make the meet the most notable ever held in this country, and the programme will contain feature events of a decidedly novel character in which the leading amateur and professional drivers of the country will participate. Races will be provided for all classes of cars, and many of the contests will carry a championship title. An international event is being outlined that will contain the greatest world's drivers of high speed cars.

MINES MAY CLOSE

Operators of Springfield Sub-District Said to Be Favorable to This Action—Several Considerations Influence Them

Springfield, June 16.—The closing down of the coal mines of the state on July 1st is believed to be a probability. The answer of the Miners' union to the request of the Illinois Coal Operators' association that the miners recompense the operators for the extra expense involved in the operation of the shot firers' law will be considered at a convention of the association in this city June 20.

At a conference of the Springfield sub-district operators Thursday, the matter was discussed. It is said to have been the sentiment of the gathering that unless the miners comply with the request made the mines should be closed down on the first of next month.

Concerning the situation in Illinois, "Black Diamond," supposed to be close to the operators and to reflect their sentiment, in to day's issue, makes the positive assertion that a suspension of mining July 1st is almost certain, as the result of growing sentiment in favor of meeting the miners' now and fighting it out with them. "Black Diamond" says:

"Contributing features to the local situation in the west is the approaching crisis with reference to the shot firers' law, which becomes effective in Illinois July 1st. This week the operators are holding district conventions in many of the districts of the state for the purpose of taking unanimous action with reference to this question. The results will not be known publicly until after the meeting of the operators' association at Springfield next Tuesday, when it is expected that final action will be taken. There seems to be a growing sentiment among the larger operating interests, however, that unless the miners recede from the position which they have taken thus far there will be a general tieup of the mines of Illinois. The operators feel that they have granted the last concession which can be granted; that they are right in the position they have taken and that the miners are wrong, and having these things in view they are not likely to make any shift from the position which they have assumed in their letter to the miners the latter part of May. Sentiment seemed to be crystallizing so far as operating interests could be reached the latter end of the week to how close to the line of policy laid down at the original meeting of the operators concerning this matter, and unless the miners shall recede from their position this means there will be trouble in the Illinois fields."

"In taking the ground they have thus far the operators feel that they have been more than just toward the miners. They have withstood many petty violations of the contract by local unions and have continually been obliged to make a fight to keep rights which enabled them to compete with adjoining bituminous states. The situation, however, has not sufficiently crystallized to have any immediate effect on market conditions and probably will not until after the meeting of the operators at Springfield next Tuesday."

Miss Mayme Price, of Chicago, is a guest at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Carrie Phillips on East College avenue.
